TWO STUDENT AWARDS NOW AVAILABLE

The Wayne Wray Student Scholarship is awarded thanks to an ongoing generous gift from Wayne W. Wray. This $500.00 scholarship will be awarded to the student who most exemplifies the principle on which our organization was founded almost a century ago: a love of and the promotion of the classics. While participation in CAV (and other) contests is preferred, the primary focus of this scholarship remains the student's ability to "spread the word" about classics and encourage others to study Latin.

New in 2021-22: the Jim Bigger Memorial Scholarship will be awarded to honor the memory of long-time Virginia teacher and CAV member Jim Bigger. This $500 scholarship, funded by donations from CAV members, will be awarded to a deserving senior who excels academically who intends to continue their study of Latin and/or Greek in college.

Any CAV member may nominate any student who is taking or has completed four or more years of Latin and/or Greek. There may be more than one nominee per school. These scholarships are not based on financial need and are not renewable.

The applications are due April 1:
<https://forms.gle/viofqBmwPxHNMuGJ6>. The names of the recipients will be announced at the Spring CAV meeting.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Salvete comites!

As fall is winding down and heading into the shorter days of winter, we can look back at the past few months where there were moments of normalcy. Many schools have been able to operate in person, even holding sport events, homecoming celebrations, etc. The CAV had a wonderful fall meeting, and although it was once again by Zoom, there was an exciting array of speakers - Kate Tiffany discussing her impressions of the new textbook series Suburani, a “show-and-tell” of sorts by Richard Campbell, long-time member of the re-enactment group LEGIO XX, and a fun and fascinating talk by the always-interesting Dr. Judy Hallett. While we can rejoice that technology has allowed us to meet in this way, let’s hope we can have the spring meeting in person - I personally would like to tap the CAV gavel at least once while presiding over a live meeting!

Now I have a request - or even a plea! While we have all been in survival mode these last months, by necessity some things have had to fall by the wayside. Professional organizations of all types have seen memberships go down, and for the CAV, we have seen sharp decreases in participation in both our student contests and in nominations for our student and teacher awards. Please consider offering these opportunities to your students once again (or for the first time, if you haven’t), and consider nominating a colleague and or student for an award - in most cases the applications have been greatly simplified. These “extras” are often mentioned by students as reasons to continue their studies, and a little recognition for passion and hard work can bring a lot of joy. We have wonderful Latin teachers and students in the state - let’s celebrate them!

Patty Lister

ACL SUMMER INSTITUTE 2022 INVITATION

This year we are building on the last two themes of “Slavery” and “Empire: A Fuller Accounting” with the special theme of “All Our Roots.” At their roots in antiquity and through their growth into modernity, classical culture and the field of classics have nurtured and been nurtured by people of diverse genders, ethnicities, religions, and philosophies. Although such contributions have often been unintentionally forgotten or maliciously suppressed, it is critical to our students’ sense of belonging to see themselves and people with whom they identify both prominent in antiquity and leading in the field of classics. For their benefit, we can scrape away layer by layer to uncover the inspiration American civil rights leaders found in classical authors, the scholarship of prominent Black classicists like Helen Maria Chesnut or HBCUs like Howard University, the confident corrective of Senegalese President Leopold Senghor that classics was not the possession of colonizers, but an equal inheritance of Africans through Juba, Masinissa, and Augustine, the sixteenth-century anti-slavery writings of de Las Casas, the African and Near Eastern Emperors like the Severans or Philip, all the way down to characters like Memnon and Andromeda in our deepest and widest-branching mythological roots. With this Jubilee Institute, we can help everyone celebrate their own claim to classics.

We hope you will join us to enjoy the many events and displays celebrating and commemorating the ACL Institute’s evolution over the last seventy-five years. The last two of those years have taught us the importance of including members who may not be able to travel to the event, and so there will be some pre-recorded presentations and a limited number of Zoom sessions chosen by the Program Committee to offer a chance for everyone to stay connected to the Institute.

We look forward to being together with you at last in Charleston.

Sincerely,

Patrick McFadden

Vice President

ARTHUR F. STOCKER LATIN ESSAY CONTEST
Spring 2022

- The contest is free and open to all students of K-12 Latin in the Commonwealth of Virginia whose teachers are current members of the Classical Association of Virginia. Encourage your students to participate!
- All entries must be submitted through the Latin teacher, who is asked to verify each student's level of Latin.
- Essays must be written entirely in Latin and must be on the subject prescribed for the level of Latin the contestant is taking.

First-year Latin
De Medusa
(100–200 words)

Second-year Latin
De Apolline, duce Musarum
(150–250 words)

Advanced Latin
De castris et legionibus Caesaris in Gallia
(200–300 words)

Receipt Deadline: Friday, April 1, 2022

Teachers should send students' Latin Essays to:

John F. Miller
Department of Classics
University of Virginia
B018 Cocke Hall, PO Box 400788
Charlottesville, VA 22904–4788

OR: jfm4j@virginia.edu

RULES:

1. Each essay should have a cover sheet which includes:
  - a) The full name of the contestant;
  - b) Full home address;
  - c) Name of Latin teacher;
  - d) Name and address of school.
2. The contestant's name should appear in the upper right-hand corner of the essay.
3. No help from any person is permitted in the preparation of this essay. Reference books may be used, such as those on grammar, dictionaries, and volumes on ancient literature and culture. Provide a bibliography of any works consulted at the end of the essay.
4. Judging will be based both upon the content of the essay and on Latin usage, but the correctness of the Latin will be the most important single factor. Contestants should make a conscious effort to incorporate as many as possible of the new syntactical features of the Latin language that they have encountered for the first time in the level of Latin for which they are currently enrolled.
5. The names of the winners in each competition and of those receiving honorable mention will be announced at the spring meeting of the CAV in May. Entries will not be returned after judging. By entering this competition students are giving the CAV permission to publish their names and/or essays in any of the official publications. This permission is given unless a student makes a written request to the contrary.

All courses will be presented by Dr Christopher Gribbin, a public historian and Adjunct Lecturer at La Trobe University. The courses are delivered in an entertaining and informative way and can be a valuable experience for teachers or anyone looking to engage with ancient literature and society.
